Dear Ms. Lemmons-Berry, Staff, and Members of Providence Presbytery,

It is with profound thanks and humility that the Session and members of Kingston Presbyterian Church praise God for the generosity of Spirit expressed by your financial support ($750) for the recovery and renovation of our facilities after the devastation of Hurricane Floyd and its subsequent flooding here in Conway. Such unexpected and amazing grace has been a rich blessing to our members and their neighbors, in that it has made it possible for us to help others here after Hurricane Floyd, and in the path of the subsequent storm, Michael. We anticipate enjoying our first Covered Dish Luncheon after worship on February 3, our own personal "Super Bowl Sunday" of sorts.

Some congregations are blessed with professors, others with doctors and lawyers, and many with teachers. We have a few of each, too. But our greatest 'professional asset,' especially in the wake of the storm has been a handful of builders & contractors, and a few long-time members with long-term memories – memories of where underground electrical and water lines and drain pipes are located. They have saved us many thousands of dollars, and several of their sub-contractors have reduced their bills to help Kingston with our recovery.

We are grateful to be part of the PC(U.S.A.) family, and to know that brothers and sisters like you in Providence Presbytery are there to help share burdens like we have born - but, even more, to share the joy that comes from knowing this family is always close by, and ready to help. Your actions are a joyful witness to your faith, and a confirmation of the reason for our own.

In Christ together,

Pastor Rhett Talbert
